Helping Verbs: Past-Tense

- Helping verbs are used to help the main verb show when an action happens.
 - To show an action in the past we use was, were, had, and had when the main verb is in the past-tense.
 - Use has when the subject is singular. Example: He has walked to the park.
 - Use have or had when the subject is plural, I, or you.
- Examples: We had heard the whistle. We have played the game. I have seen the movie.

Directions: Underline the helping verb and circle the main verb.
